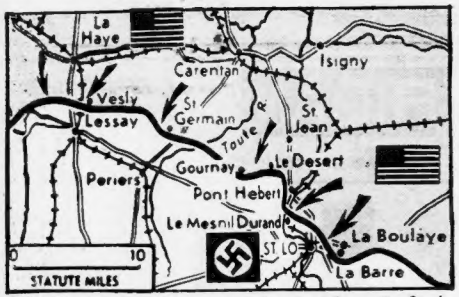
Yanks Move Ahead In France



FRANCE—American forces were pushing ahead from the St. Lo area to the western coast of the Cherbourg peninsula today. St. Lo was threatened with encirclement as Yanks captured La Barre and pushed south . . . and Yanks were within two miles of Lessay after rolling through Vesly.

By KINGSBURY SMITH

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, July 14 (INS) — The Germans were reported officially today to be withdrawing along the entire battlefront below the Cherbourg peninsula in the face of punishing American artillery, armor and infantry assaults.

(The German main line from St. Lo to La Haye du Puits has been withdrawn, the Nazi agency, DNB, admitted.)

"The entire American front from St. Lo to the sea is well on the move," a spokesman at Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters said, "and it looks as though the enemy is conducting an orderly withdrawal."

At headquarters it was said there was no sign of German panic and no large number of prisoners were being taken.

On the eastern sectors of the 100-mile-long battlefront, the British held firm against bitter Nazi counter-assaults and were said to be regrouping continually in preparation for further offensive action.

The situation along the entire front was declared "very satisfactory."

Announcement that the Germans were withdrawing came immediately after Gen. Eisenhower's headquarters disclosed in the regular morning communique that American assault forces, advancing on a 10-mile front south of La Haye du Puits, had made good progress in an attack which brought them astride the main road to within two miles of Lessay.

Units on the right flank of the La Haye front advanced about 2000 yards near Betteville-sur-Ay. On the left, an attack overran the village of Vesly.

In the Carentan sector, the troops of Lt. Gen. Bradley continued up both banks of the River Taute.

Near the center of the American front, the Yanks pushed on two miles through the Bois du Hommet to reach the road between St. Lo and Periers, capturing Le Hommet D'Arthenay, Tribehon and St. Martin les Champs.

In the Lessay area, patrols reached St. Germaine-sur-Ay and found it clear of the enemy. Bridges in the area had been blown up.

The Americans also developed an outflanking movement around St. Lo, apparently designed to encircle the town.

Pinsk Falls to Red Army

By NATALIA RENE

MOSCOW, July 14 (INS)—Russian forces, having completed the liberation of Wilno, smashed their way today to within 23 miles of the German-defined border of East Prussia.

After five days of savage street fighting in the 1000-year-old Baltic metropolis, Gen. Chernyakhovsky's Third White Russian Army completely cleared Wilno of the enemy and captured more than 250 towns and villages to the west and southwest.

Red army legions surged ahead all along the 550-mile battlefront from the region east of central Latvia to the Pripyat marshes, but the most spectacular advance was that northwest of Grodno.

There Russian troops seized the town of Novaya-Ruda, about 60 miles from the old East Prussia frontier, but only 23 from the border set up by the Germans themselves when they conquered Poland in 1939.

Outflanking Grodno, the Red army launched an attack on the Nieman line along a 50-mile front north of Grodno, said a Reuter dispatch from Moscow received in London.

Grodno is the northern anchor of the main German defense line in Poland.

Grodno, last formidable Nazi line protecting the approaches to East Prussia, is 20 miles from the Suwalki triangle appended by the Nazis to East Prussia after they overran Poland.)

(A Stockholm dispatch to the London Daily Express quoted a Berlin commentator as saying spearms of Russian tanks smashed through German defenses southwest of Kaunas last night to within 30 miles of East Prussia.

(The Nazi commentator was further quoted as saying a great armored battle is raging along the border of Suwalki Province and that the new break-through means the Red army has outflanked Kaunas.

BULLETIN

LONDON, July 14 (INS)—German evacuation of the White Russian bastion of Pinsk was announced today by the Nazi agency DNB and later confirmed in the German high command communique. Break-throughs into the city of Grodno were also admitted.

Guam Shelled 9 Days

By Associated Press

An avenging U. S. Navy, unceasingly hammering Guam into shape for invasion, today grimly underscored the mortal blow struck Japan at Sapan by revealing the deaths of two Japanese admirals on this island lying only 1500 miles from Tokyo.

Adm. Nimitz disclosed last night that Vice-Adm. Nagumo, commanding the central Pacific area, met death on Saipan July 7, one day before the Marianas capital island toppled. With him died a rear Adm. Yano, otherwise unidentified.

On New Guinea thousands of trapped enemy troops threw themselves against encircling Allied forces near Aitape. Many of the 45,000 men trying to break free to Jap-held Dutch New Guinea were slain in attacks preliminary to a full-scale battle. Their fate seemed as sure as that of Admiral Nagumo's, but American lives were in the balance, too.

Guam quivered under nine straight days of aerial blasting plus four days of warships shelling through Tuesday. Tokyo radio said new attacks were made Thursday by aircraft and warships, including a battleship.

Adm. Nagumo led the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor and he commanded the carrier fleet blown out of the water at Midway July 3-6, 1942. His end, perhaps through hara-kiri, illuminated Saipan as a Japanese Pearl Harbor, comparable to Oahu not only in geography, but as the hinge of Japan's inner ocean defense.

"It is now clear," said Adm. Nimitz, "that Saipan Island was built up by the Japanese as the principal fortress guarding the southern approaches to Japan."

Saipan is a thousand miles closer to Japan than Pearl Harbor is to California.

Scarred Hengyang still held out against Japanese trying to remount their siege of the vital Chinese rail city.

Yanks Continue Gains in Italy

ROME, July 14 (AP)—American troops knifed through fiercely defended German lines yesterday, captured the village of Pastina, 13 miles east southeast of Leghorn and drove one two miles through San Luce.

The trust, paced by the 442d regimental combat team composed of American soldiers of Japanese origin, followed a secondary highway between the west coast and the Era valley, and threatened to outflank the enemy.

French troops advanced 2½ miles northward to a point 17 miles from the Arno river at Empoli, and tended to develop a flanking threat.

North of Pastina, the enemy launched a futile counterattack last night against the Americans.

Nazi Sub Sinks U. S. Tanker Off Colombia

BARRANQUILLA, Colombia, July 14 (AP)—Sinking of the American tanker Harrisburg was disclosed today with the landing of a group of survivors who said the ship had been torpedoed by a German submarine off the Colombian coast.

(The dispatch did not make clear how many of the crew had survived the sinking.)

4th Robotless Night for London

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—London experienced its fourth successive bomb-free night last night, and while a few flying bombs fell in the southern counties and others hurtled over today, the robot raids appeared definitely checked — at least, during hours of darkness.

RUSSIA—Rolling on towards East Prussia, Red army forces today are reported to have captured Pinsk and outflanked the key city of Grodno, while other Soviet troops continue to exert increasing pressure along the entire front.

'Yoo-Hoo' Lear In McNair Post

WASHINGTON, July 14—The war department announced today Lt. Gen. Ben Lear has been assigned to command of the Army Ground Forces, relieving Lt. Gen. Lesley J. McNair who has been given "an important overseas assignment."

While commanding the Second Army, headquarters at Memphis, Tenn., in 1942, Lear precipitated a widespread pre-war controversy over Army dicipline when he ordered a group of soldiers to undertake a forced march between Little Rock, Ark., and Memphis, because some of them had yelled "Yoo-Hoo" at shorts-clad girls on a Memphis golf course.

Lear, former commander of the Second Army, came up from the ranks after enlisting in the first Colorado Infantry Volunteers May 1, 1898 when he was 19.

Ruhr, Hungary, France Bombed

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Another big Allied aerial attack from the south was reported by the Germans today, while Britain-based bombers and fighters crossed the channel to continue battle-front support attacks which fliers report have driven the Nazis from even secondary roads.

The Geran radio said bombers were sweeping through the Danube basin into Hungary.

A small force of RAF Mosquitos bombed the Ruhr valley while other British planes laid mines in enemy waters last night.

Lopes Is Held In Girl Killing

John Lopes, 55-year-old Scituate carpenter, was held for the grand jury in $50,000 bail today, after pleading not guilty to complicity in the murder of Frances McGrath, 10, at an arraignment before Judge Daniel A. Shea in Hingham District Court.

Lopes holds the key to apprehension of the little Dorchester girl's murderer, Dist. Atty. Edmund R. Dewing told the court. A John oe warrant has been issued for the killer.

The state, charging Lopes with being an accessory after the fact, asserts he "harbored and concealed, maintained and assisted, with intent that said John Doe should avoid or escape detection, arrest, trial or punishment.

Lopes, who Americanized his given name after coming here from Cape Verde islands, identified himself as Joaquin Lopes.

He wore a neat blue suit and stood erect as Judge Shea arraigned him but he was noticeably nervous. Police removed him to the Plymouth jail to await the October grand jury session.

Dewing said he would call a special session of grand jurors if the McGrath girl's slayer is captured before October.

Lopes was represented by Atty. Antonio J. Cardozo of Cambridge. After court Cordozo declared he would make a thorough investigation of the murder himself in hope he might aid in the killer's arrest and free his client.

In court with Dewing were Chief Stewart of the Scituate police, Lt. J. Butler of the state police and several state detectives.

Lopes had been held at the Norwell state police barracks since his arrest yesterday afternoon in at the shipyards.

His home is a small cottage in the Greenbush section of Scituate, where he lived alone, earning his living at the shipyard and uhing his truck for odd-job tasks.

The truck, which police believed was used by whoever left Frances McGrath's body in the Norwell pine grove where it was found June 16, was seized several weeks ago.

Push N. Y. Baby Kidnap Search

NEW YORK, July 14 (INS)—Definite, but undisclosed, clues to the kidnaper of Barbara Anne Goggin, 6-months-old infant abducted from the New York Foundling Hosiptal, were disclosed today to be in possession of police authorities.

While the manhun., greatest since the Lindbergh kidnaping 12 years ago, was passed, some detectives believed, however, the baby might have been taken by mistake for another.

Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Scotti, who described the case as definitely a kidnaping, would not discuss the leads and stated "Our main concern is to get that baby back alive."

There apparently was no motive for the kidnaping.

Authorities said the case is unprecedented in the 75-year history of the hospital. Baby Goggin was not a foundling, but had been kept there while her working mother was preparing to undergo an operation. News of the kidnaping was kept from her before she went into the surgery.

"She'd have jumped out of the window, had she known," said the distracted father, Walter Goggin.

On the theory the baby might have been taken by error, Detectives questioned Samuel P. Forrest, shipyard worker, whose 17-months-old blonde and blue eyed daughter has a marked resemblance to the Goggin infant. Forrest denied stoutly that he knew anything about the missing child.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Alfred J. Scotti, who described the case as ah abduction, said the police have definite leads but would not discuss details in deference to the baby's safety.

The police description of Barbara Anne: Blonde hair and blue eyes, six months and 19 days old, fair complexion, 27 inches tall, weighs 16 pounds. When taken, she wore only a diaper.

BULLETIN

Police in cruising cars searched through the South End today for a sailor, carrying a baby several months old, in the possibility the infant might be 6-months-old Barbara Anne Goggin, who disappeared from a New York foundling home.

The sailor, described as about 23, five feet ten inches tall and weighing 160 pounds, approached a starter at the Northampton st. station and asked for directions to Tremont st., the starter reported to police.

HOSPITAL BABY—Little Jacqueline Jenner of Los Angeles, who has spent most of her eight years in hospitals, had a hope today that she might be going home at last . . . but she was transferred to another hospital. However, specialists say she has conquered Bulbar Poliomyelitis. Incidentally, since she was 2, she has had 19 operations, scarlet fever, measles (three times), pneumonia, a broken nose, two broken arms, a smashed finger and a dog bite.

Camp McKay Communique:

Civilian Raid On P.W.'s a Riot

An unidentified citizen of more heft than discretion stepped into the prisoner-of-war problem at Camp McKay, South Boston, last night and scored three knockouts, it was revealed today.

He knocked one Italian prisoner cold with a rock, flattened another with a roundhouse right and plugged an armed guard on the chin with a pile-driver wallop that blacked him out.

Then the civilian Commando did a veritable off-to-Buffalo that took him beyond retribution by soldiers or police.

ORDER RESTORED

Detectives and the Army were seeking him zealously today in hope of administering punishment befitting his unprovoked assaults.

Order was restored among several hundred Carson Beach bathers who witnessed the incidents after police responded to a riot call and a guard reinforcement lined up outside the barracks fence to meet emergencies.

Witnesses said the fiery citizen approached the Carson Beach side of the barracks and skimmed a rock over the fence.

It struck an Italian prisoner and laid him out.

Another prisoner scaled the fence and ran for the offender. He waited with right hand cocked and let it go for another knockout.

Men bathers who had seen only the Italian prisoner running at the civilian were rushing to the man's "assistance."

A soldier guard went for him. The granite-fisted fellow looped his right again and blacked out the soldier.

A detail of guards arrived on the double. Four carried off the unconscious Italian and the felled guard. The others, their backs to the barracks fence, waited to meet whatever should develop in the now angry crowd. Many of those who had run to the spot had not seen the rock thrown and thought it was a case of a civilian defending himself against an attack by an Italian prisoner.

RIOT SQUAD OUT

Riot squads of police and the guards finally brought about order. The injured were resuscitated, the battlefield cleared and the indignant but misguided crowd broken up. The man with the super-duper right duke had put distance behind him.

It was the second untoward incident at the camp this week, Wednesday the Italian prisoners staged a sit-down strike because they asserted it was not cricket to make them work after 5:30 p. m. They called it off after the Army threatened to place them in the same status as Nazi prisoners of war.

Parachutes From Sub-Stratosphere

OKLAHOMA CITY, July 14 (AP)—Joseph E. Claymore, 38, civilian flight engineer at the Oklahoma City Air Service Command, parachuted to safety after he was accidentally thrown from a B-29 Superfortress into the sub-stratosphere, Army authorities reported.

The plane was on a routine high altitude flight near Enid, Okla. Cause of the accident and the height from which Claymore fell were not disclosed.

Mystery Girl Injured Youth Killed in Crash

Authorities today sought the identity of a mystery girl rider who was injured in a crash which brought death to Guy L. Miller, 18, of Hawthorne st., Roxbury, whose truck crashed a pole on American Legion hwy, Hyde Park.

Cool Breezes Bring Relief

Cooling breezes today brought an end to a prolonged spell of warmth which saw the temperature reach the 90's or high 80's for eight successive days.

The day dawned with readings in the middle 60's, and the weather bureau predicted that the temperature would not go above 80 degrees.

Gone, too, was the excessive humidity which has sent thousands to the beaches daily in search of relief.

800 Executed By Nazi Error

By ERNEST ZAUGG

BERNE, July 14 (INS)—Eyewitness accounts reached here today of the execution of 800 persons June 10 in the French village of Oradoux sur Glanes, which was turned into another Lidice in error according to Nazis responsible for the crime.

The on-the-scene report was made to the Zurich newspaper Neue Zuercher Zeitung by one of the intended victims who escaped with only nine others.

Early in the afternoon of June 10, the newspaper said, an SS extermination unit proceeded into the village on the assumption that Maquis had been quartered there.

MEN SHOT BY 20's

Men of the village were herded into several barns while the women and children were taken to the village church.

Then the SS men began shooting the men in groups of 20.

Among those who escaped was a man who remained alive underneath a pile of dead.

The eyewitness declared the Nazis installed an apparatus which developed suffocating smoke inside the crowded church, then locked the doors.

Inflammable material was spread around the floors and walls of the interior, and the church was set on fire as the women and children screamed in horror. Two priests perished with them.

VILLAGE BURNED

The entire village was burned down.

Next day, it was said a huge common grave was dug by the SS men and the bodies of the victims were thrown in.

The German general at Limoges, quoted as saying he was horrified, asserted the SS troops acted with our orders.

It was claimed by German officers that the punitive expedition into Oradoux was a mistake since the village had no trace of the Maquis, and actually had been intended for Oradour sur Vahers, a larger place some 17 miles away.

NEW INSIGNIA—Among the first to wear the Navy's new amphibious insignia is Neal E. Doherty, b-m 2-c, of School st., Woburn, who was presented the "patch" at Norfolk, Va. He saw action at North Africa, Sicily and Salerno.

Johnston Sees Big Soviet Trade

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—A tremendous postwar boom in trade with Russia is foreseen by Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

He began work today on plans to translate into dollars-and-cents orders the information he obtained on a lengthy tour of the Soviet Union. Johnston said:

Russia is looking to this country for an imagination - staggering supply of mining and industrial machinery, railway and hydro-electric equipment, ships, trucks and road building tools and machines.

It is absolutely essential that Russia have long term credits (10 to 30 years). Also, the United States must buy from Russia, taking raw materials.

Russia's aim in rebuilding is to achieve a high standard of living, in 1929.

June Highway Toll Among Lowest, 30

The June toll of 30 deaths on Massachusetts highways was one of the lowest for that month in history, Registrar Goodwin, revealed today.

Although the lowest death toll for June was a year ago when 23 were killed, Goodwin said that in 1919, with only 260,000 cars on the road, 54 persons were killed in June. Highest June total was 73

Burrell and Curtis To Speed Recount

A speedy recount in the fight for the Republican nomination for state treasurer was forecast today so that ballots can be printed and sent to the fighting forces well in advance of election day in November.

Fred J. Burrell, who apparently was winner by 288 votes, and Laurence Curtis both promised to expedite wherever possible the recount that friends of Curtis are expected to ask for before today's 5 p. m. deadline.

FULL BOSTON RECOUNT

City Councilor James C. Bayley, Jr., has recount petitions for all 22 wards in Boston, while other petitions were being circulated today in cities and towns.

In announcing his plans for the recount, Curtis said: "I will give this whole thing up if I find it will jeopardize the vote of a single soldier."

At the same time, recounts are expected in the Democratic House vote in Charlestown, downtown Ward 3, Wards 13 and 17, Dorchester; Ward 19, Jamaica Plain, and Ward 20, West Roxbury, as well as retabulation of the vote for State Senate in the 2d Suffolk district.

PICK CANDIDATE TONIGHT

Meanwhile, the Democratic State Committee meets tonight to choose a candidate to run for secretary of state against Frederic W. Cook. John M. Bresnahan of Lynn, who won that nomination and the Democratic nomination for Congress in the 6th District, has decided to run for the latter office.

Secretary Cook said tabulation of all primary results, except those nominations involved in recounts, is expected by July 21. It had been hoped to have ballots printed for servicemen within a week of that date.

Wallace Now Ready For Last-Ditch Fight

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, July 14 (INS)—Vice-President Wallace was represented today as ready to make a last-ditch fight against party "bosses" for his political life at the Democratic convention next week.

Expecting a friendly statement by President Roosevelt and assured of backing of CIO leaders, Wallace was said to be confident he could whip the opposition.

He would, however, friends said, abandon the race on request from the White House.

Sidney Hillman, chairman of the CIO political action committee, and Philip Murray, president of CIO, favor Wallace.

President Roosevelt's delay in a declaration for Wallace admittedly embarrassed the vice-president's friends.

It appeared to be too late for even Mr. Roosevelt to avoid a bitter convention battle over the vice-presidency, however.

Many powerful party leaders, including Democratic National Chairman Hannegan, fighting Wallace won support of many anti-New Deal southern delegations.

Sen. Barkley, Kentucky, Democratic Senate chief, continued to be the favorite among party leaders for the post though. Friends of War Mobilization Director James Byrnes boomed him, following endorsement by the South Carolina delegation.

Justice William O. Douglas of the Supreme Court had the reported backing of Interior Secretary Ickes, Undersecretary Abe Fortas, and Tommy Corcoran.

Sen. Truman (D.) of Missouri, Sen. O'Mahoney of Wyoming, and War Manpower Commissioner McNutt also were mentioned.

Turks May Rout Nazis in Balkans

WASHINGTON, July 14 (INS)—Turkey's entrance into the war now a distinct possibility, might force Germany to abandon the Balkans.

The Turkish army is strong enough, and the Nazi forces are weak enough, observers say, so that this might be accomplished without aid of an Allied force.

Turkey's entrance into the war would have two other advantages:

The Bosphorous would be opened for shipments of supplies to Russia.

New bombing bases would be available for Allied planes.

Turkey's swing toward the Allied camp was attributed to the Russian successes, the invasion of France, and the taking of Rome.

Tire Factory Needs 1000 New Workers

CHICOPEE FALLS, July 14—Nearly 1000 new workers and a cut in absenteeism among present employes are necessary to put the new Fisk tire plant of the U. S. Rubber Co. on a basis of satisfactory production.

This was the statement of Lt.-Gen. Knudsen, director of production in the office of the Undersecretary of War, after a visit to the plant, largest truck-tire factory in the country. The plant now is operating at 15 per cent of capacity, it was stated.

Dewey Assails Special Groups

ALBANY, N. Y., July 14 (INS)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey prepared for a week-end at his farm today after assailing what he described as a tendency in Washington set the executive branche of the federal government "above the people."

Gov. Dewey was to confer with Rep. Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, chairman of the Republican congressional committee, who nominated Wendell L. Willkie in 1940 and was a major factor in the maneuvering which brought the Presidentia l nomination to Willkie then.

Mr. Dewey used a Senate chamber meeting of 275 high school girls, constituting the Empire Girls State, as a sounding board for a pledge to bring government closer to the people.

He attacked what he described as two tendencies in our public life which "have worked to separate government from the people." One, he said, has been the development in Washington of a concept that "the executive branch of the federal government is apart from, and superior to, the other branches of government and is above the people."

The other, he added, has been the "growing aggressiveness of various pressure groups and special interests."

In New York, Henry R. Trumbull, 39-year-old advertising executive, was appointed Republican campaign radio director.

Nazis Desecrate Pushkin's Grave

MOSCOW, July 14 (AP)—The Germans have desecrated the grave of Pushkin, taken away relics that marked his memory, and burned many of his manuscripts, Red Star Correspondent Maj. Boris Azbukin reported today in a dispatch which caused widespread indignation here.

Alexandeh Pushkin, 19th century Russian poet who more than once was in trouble with Czarist authorities because of his liberal opinions, is revered by Russians as Shakespeare is by English-speaking peoples.

"It would be the same," shouted one Russian, "as if the Germans had wrecked Stratford-On-Avon or destroyed George Washington's Mount Vernon."

Hub Rector's Son Leads Marines Killing 29 Japs

By SGT. JACK VINCENT
Marine Corps Combat Correspondent. Distributed by the Associated Press

SAIPAN, Marianas Islands (Delayed)—A Marine patrol of 26 scouts and 40 engineers killed 29 Japs and captured 53 others in a two-day search through the cave-honeycombed cliffs of Magicienne Bay during heavy fighting on Saipan.

It was led by Marine Lt. Endecott Osgood of 116 Commonwealth ave., Boston.

(Osgood is the son of Rev. and Mrs. Philips Endecott Osgood. His father is rector of Emmanuel Episcopal Church, Newbury st., Boston. Prior to joining up with the Marines, young Osgood was a student in Carleton College, Northfield, Minn., and in December, 1942, was married to Miss Helen Bruhy, of West Bend, Wis.)

The patrol worked through rugged shore line where sharp coral rocks cut heavy field shoes to shreds in a matter of hours.

PLENTY OF SUPPLIES

Entrances to many of the caves were visible only at low tide. At other points, Jap soldiers, cut off by the retreat of their own troops, huddled beneath overhanging ledges. Many caves had two or three rooms, and all soldiers hiding out there had large supplies of ammunition, arms and food.

According to Lt. Osgood, however, many appeared to be hampered by a shortage of fresh water.

"In one big rock pile, we found two caves and pulled five Japs out," Lt. Osgood related. "A sixth Jap was in there, but he refused to come out. We gave him two vertical butt strokes in the head with a rifle, but it failed to knock him out and he kept swinging a knife at us. We had to shoot him.

GOOD HUNTING

"All in all, it was good hunting. We would crawl up to the edge of a cave or cliff, and have our interpreter yell over for them to surrender. When they grabbed their rifles and tried to scurry for other cover, we would let them have it. In some cases, we fired 400 or 500 rounds into a cave.

"In many cases, however, they did come out. We captured one Jap soldier who happened to be a former friend of the interpreter we had along."

The Marines lost one man in the two-day patrol.

Plane Is Evidence In Murder Trial

MARANA FIELD, Ariz., July 14 (AP)—An AT-6 trainer plane was to be introduced as evidence today in the court-martial trial of Lt. Howard E. Stittsworth, 21, charged with murder after the decapitation of a motorist by a low flying plane.

The prosecution said a demonstration of the plane's construction, linked with a damaged propeller purportedly removed from the officer's ship, would attempt to show how the wing could have hit the automobile of Earl W. Nepple and beheaded him.

Lt. G. W. Stark, accident investigation officer at Luke Field, identified the propeller yesterday as one taken from Stittsworth's plane after he landed at the field. The blades were clipped off one inch at each tip.

Stark further identified photographs showing furrows in the road surface near the scene. The prosecution contended they marked the spot where Stittsworth's propeller came in contact with the paving as he swooped low over the highway.

Prosecutors said they hoped to show by exhibiting an AT-6 trainer—the same type of aircraft Stittsworth was flying—that the ship's wing would have been approximately car-height from the ground if the propeller tips were close enough to scratch the roadbed.

Bastille Day Observed Here

Mayor Tobin and friends of France gathered at the Lafayette monument on Boston Common today for observance of Bastille Day, the French "Fourth of July."

Later, French sailors under Commandant Pierre Gilly were to parade with American seamen through downtown streets.

Leaders of various French groups were to be received by Mayor Tobin at City Hall at 12:30. Commandant Gilly will be given a reception at Hotel Vendome at 5.

A formal Bastille Day celebration will be held tonight in New England Mutual Hall.

Plan for Circus To Quit Hartford

HARTFORD, July 14 (AP)—Attorneys representing the Ringling Brothers-Barnum and Bailey Circus and the Hartford Bar Ass'n held another meeting today to discuss plans to enable the circus to leave Hartford.

Atty. Daniel Judge of New York, representing the circus, said the circus in operation could pay its obligations in time but if it was kept idle, the assets would diminish rapidly.

Circus officials today estimated it costs approximately $10,000 a day to maintain the circus here.

Horse on Loose

Unless the owner comes forward, the Boston mounted police are going to get a beautiful black horse with four white feet and a white tail.

The animal was picked up on Pond st., Jamaica Plain, and police of that station temporarily stabled it at the nearby Wright's stable.

Hubby Tried to Kiss Girl Friend, Wife Tells Court

SALEM, July 14—Even her girl friend wasn't safe from the unwanted attentions of her husband, Mrs. Ethel R. King, 28, of Franklin st., Lynn, testified in Essex Probate Court today in seeking an uncontested divorce from Albert L. King, violinist in the Vaughn Monroe orchestra.

Mrs. King, mother of two children, told Judge John V. Phelan that King tried to kiss her girl friend when the latter was visiting their home.

"I was in the kitchen when I heard her cry 'Don't!' and I went into the living room and he was trying to kiss her," she testified.

She said King punched her when she remonstrated with him.

Mrs. King said her husband had frequent dates with other women and whenever she protested he struck her.

She said King's salary was $125 weekly and that he had sent her $14 each week since their separation last April.

She charged cruelty and abuse and neglect to provide. She sought custody of the children. Judge Phelan took the case under advisement.

OPA Cuts Cost Of Canned Meat

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—The OPA announced today that the cost of all canned meat would be reduced, effective Aug. 4, by approximately 10 per cent of the value of raw meat included in such products.

Consumers will benefit by the new regulation, OPA pointed out, as retail prices are fixed on a percentage mark-up over net cost.

WJR to Ban 'Middle Commercials' in News

DETROIT, July 14 (INS)—Leo J. Fitzpatrick, vice-president and general manager of radio station WJR, Detroit, today advocated the elimination of "middle commercial" announcements on all sponsored radio newscasts as a general step by the entire radio industry toward adding more "dignity to news programs."

The veteran radio executive, a member of the Columbia Broadcasting System advisory committee, said WJR would ban all such announcements beginning Sept. 1, holding henceforth to opening and closing advertising.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the time has come when the middle newscast commercial does advertisers more damage than good."

28 N. E. Fliers Home for Rest

Tyenty-eight New Englanders, most of them from Greater Boston and Massachusetts, have been sent home for rest and reassignment after running up a record toll of destruction against the Japanese while serving with Air Group Five aboard one of the Navy's new 27,000-ton aircraft carriers.

Flying from the deck of the new carrier, Air Group Five had a record for sustained combat action from the September, 1943, assault on Marcus island through the second attack on Truk last April 30.

During that period the group destroyed or damaged 428 Jap planes; sank or damaged 59 Japanese ships, totaling 292,000 tons, and caused incalculable damage in bombing of shore installations.

Included among the returning Boston men is Ens. J. J. Brosnahan, USNR, of East Fifth st., South Boston, one of five pilots of the group in the "Submarine Airedale Club," so named because members have been rescued by submarines after being shot down.

Others in the group are: Lt. Daniel J. Harrington, Portland, Me.; Ens. James H. Burns, Webster st., Lynn; Lt. (j.g.) William Laliberte, Brewer, Me.; C. T. Hamilton, CFR (AA), Park st., Arlington; Lt. (j.g.) R. E. Carmack, Swanton, Vt.; Lt. (j.g.) Henry G. Minot, Jr., Guild rd., Dedham; Lt. (j.g.) Roger Bisbee, Middle st., Braintree; Lt. (j.g.) Arthur W. Smith, Weymouth st., Providence; Lt. (j.g.) R. B. Aldrich, Brookline ave., Westfield; Roy W. Bergren, ARM 2c, Hyd Park ave., Roslindale; John P. Meachariuk, ARM 2c, Summer st., Franklin; Harry H. Ferrier, ACRM, Hampden st., Wst Springfield, and Lt. (j.g.) E. S. Palladino, Ridgewood st., Dorchester.

Also Ens. A. W. Howe, Pier 1, East Boston; Arnold J. Wideman, ARM 1c, Lewiston, Me.; A. L. Bishop, Green st., Hudson; M. C. Dadley, Hopeland st., Dracut; R. J. Dansereau, Dexter st., Lynn; L. E. Fairbrother, Bellows Falls, Vt.; T. J. Hogan, Hooker st., Allston; M. I. Hall, North Chelmsford; R. W. Hunt, Lincoln st., Watertown; L. W. Knuls, Saundersville; R. E. Lord, South Berwick, Me.; F. C. Mege, Lowell; H. F. Neveux, Jr., Biddeford, Me., and A. J. Smith, Jr., Eastern ave., Lynn.

Wounded Bay Staters Back from Normandy

Two Massachusetts heroes of D-day today were under treatment at Halloran General Hospital in New York for wounds they suffered in the Normandy invasion. They are Pvt. Ernest Trowbridge, 24, of Averton st., Roslindale, and Sgt. Clifford Boggis of Jersey st., Marblehead.

Mrs. Mary Trowbridge disclosed she had dreamed on D-day that her husband was wounded. She said she will leave for New York tomorrow to see him. Trowbridge had progressed only 100 yards up the beach when Nazi machine gun bullets got him in both legs. Sgt. Boggis, member of a bazooka team, was injured by an exploding bomb.

By HUCK FINNEGAN

INFANTRY UNIT, Northern Ireland—Oh, what a beautiful morning! Doubly welcome after the annoying rain that had everybody in this isolated camp in a blue funk.

"Let's ride over to the medics," suggested Lt. G-2 St. John, after a 7:30 breakfast. "There's a Capt. Brennan there from Boston. You might know him."

"Capt. Brennan was out on a problem until 4 a. m., sir. I doubt that he'll be in his office," said an orderly. But Capt. Brennan was in his office, looking as though he had 10 hours' sleep instead of four.

Capt. Brennan was Dr. Robert J. Brennan in pre-war days. His home was at 142 Train st., Dorchester. "Grew up with Mike Gillooly. Is he still writing for the American?"

He graduated from Boston Latin '33, Boston College '37 and B. U. Medical '41. He enlisted in the Army and served his internеship at Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, later taught at Carlisle Barracks, Pa. He married Helen Pike of New Hampshire, a nurse, who is currently at Mass. Memorial. All this, and he is only 27.

His father is Cornelius Brennan, who policed at Joy st. station until retirement.

In the same camp was Lt. Paul Weaver, 116 Beacon st., who acts as athletic director. Weaver graduated from English High '31, and Ohio State.

"There's a good softball game going on this afternoon. Stick around and watch the fun," he suggested.

"Here's our first baseman," and he introduced good-looking 19-year-old PFC Louis Malo, Fairview ave., Rehoboth. "You might remember his father. They called him French Malo. He was an ambidextrous pitcher for the Assumptions of Providence 20 years ago."

Louis Malo is quite an athlete himself, and looks the part. He graduated from Coyle Memorial, Taunton, in '42, after starring in football and baseball.

He'd like to get the war over with so he could get back his old job and wed Betty O'Neil, 73 Shores st., Taunton.

PFC Pat Micciche, 21, of 229 Chelsea st., East Boston, is in the same medical unit. Pat graduated from E. B. High and had completed two years at Northeastern when duty called. "I broke the Class D 220-yard record in the 1938 district meet at the 101st Armory. Do you know if it still stands?"

PFC Paul Monahan, 19, of 380 Park ave., Worcester, graduated from South High and completed an accelerated year at Holy Cross before he took the oath.

PFC Robert Bowne, 33, of 175 Pleasant st., Lowell, is a mechanic in the corps' motor maintenance. In pre-war days he drove a truck for Standard Oil in East Boston.

Followed a chat with Pvt. Frank Lopriore, 19, of 31½ Pleasant st., Westerly, R. I., who has a brother Mike with the Army in North Africa. Then lunch with popular Lt. Col. Howard Bass of Chicago, who insisted we stay over for the softball game.

On the way back, Col. Bass showed us through the field hospital, and the dental department where even plates for the men's mouths are made.

In the hospital was Pvt. Edward Frost, 20, of 1643 South st., Bridgewater, suffering from an infected tonsil. Frost, a '42 high school graduate, has a brother Robert, 18, in the Navy, and a girl friend Marcia Richmond, 97 Richmond st., Brockton, who writes regularly.

Time to go home, and the jeep driver was husky 19-year-old Americo Di Zazzo of 276 Elm st., Lawrence.

Bury Gen. Roosevelt In Normandy Grave

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Brig. Gen. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., 56, adventurous son of the former President, died Wednesday night of a heart attack as he rested in a captured German truck on the Normandy battlefield.

His death came at 11:45 p. m. in his office-bedroom in the converted truck at the conclusion of an arduous day with troops of the Fourth Infantry Division, of which he was assistant commanding general.

Brig. Gen. T. Roosevelt, Jr.

He is being buried today in France in the soil of the country where his brother Quentin was killed in World War I.

Returning late Wednesday, he admitted he felt tired and told his son, Capt. Quentin Roosevelt, "the old machine is pretty well worn down." Quentin, an officer in the First Infantry Division, returned to his post only two hours before the general died.

Like his father before him, Gen. Roosevelt led a strenuous life. He fought in both World Wars and between them made a number of hunting trips to out-of-the-way places.

In the last war he fought in France in the First Infantry Division—the division always closest to his heart. Starting as a major he finished as a colonel and was wounded three times.

His survivors include his widow, Mrs. Eleanor Alexander Roosevelt; three sons, Lt. Theodore, III, USNR., Lt. Cornelius van Shaack, USNR, and Quentin; and a daughter, Mrs. William McMillan, of Baltimore.

Club Singer Saves 100 In Hotel Fire

MONTICELLO, N. Y., July 14 (INS)—More than 100 guests fled to safety when fire swept the annex of the Hotel Kenmore at near-by White Lake.

Mabel Ricki, night club singer, discovered the fire in the kitchen and roused the other guests, most of whom lost all their personal belongings.

Mail 1st Checks For Hearst Stock

Special to Boston Evening American

LOS ANGELES, July 14—Morgan Howard, treasurer of Hearst Publications, Inc., announced that the tenders of Class A stock of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., exceeded the 600,000 shares which the company proposed to accept.

Approximately 800,000 shares were tendered, and in accordance with the formula stated in the invitation for tenders, the company will use the $15,000,000 borrowed to accept all tenders of ten shares or less and 75 per cent of all other tenders.

Available excess funds make it possible for Hearst Publications, Inc., to purchase an additional 130,000 shares of the stock tendered and the company has decided to purchase these additional shares from those who tendered 225 shares or less.

The company therefore will purchase all shares tendered by any stockholder who tendered 225 shares or less and 75 per cent of all shares tendered by any stockholder who tendered more than 225 shares.

Hearst Publications, Inc., commenced mailing checks yesterday and it is expected that all checks will be received before the end of the month.

Our Post-war Plans for G.I. Joe...

2ND
in a series of ads on post-war opportunities.

When it's over "over there," G. I. Joe will come home to a wave of gratitude such as this country never saw. And he's earned every bit of it—and more.

But gratitude won't buy groceries—G.I. Joe wants to go to work. He's got to have a job—and a chance to grow into still better jobs. We are going to do our part in the great task of providing these opportunities.

The day after Pearl Harbor, Esso Marketers adopted a plan of wartime benefits and job protection for our people in uniform. We published its main points here recently. We now want to tell you about two plans for taking returning servicemen into our organization. Here are their main points.

PLAN ONE covers our own employees as they come back:

1. Assurance to each man of his old job or another as good or better.

2. Review of changes in the man and in the business since he went away to be sure he gets the best job for him now.

3. Recognition of the development of men during the war, by providing better jobs than they left, either at once or as soon as possible.

4. Provisions in the case of a man not physically up to his old job for finding one he can do, temporarily or permanently as soon as possible.

PLAN TWO aims to take as many new people as possible from the armed services into our business. Post-war petroleum will need more people. Wartime experience will equip many men for this business. Here is our plan for these men:

1. Careful analysis of the man's abilities as they can best fit our business on the basis of a real career for him.

2. Special training with pay to prepare the man for prompt assignment to a definite job on a regular basis.

3. This also means full participation in old-age pension, disability, savings plan, and other individual job-security benefits which our employees share.

4. Opportunities for further training to prepare for advancement on a basis of proved ability.

Fireman Red Shirts, Shorts for Co-Eds

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Fashion Editor

NEW YORK, July 14—College girls will be able to dress in 30 seconds flat this fall, if they adopt the outfits designed by Claire McCardell, the pixie of New York's fashion designers.

Miss McCardell, already famous for her simplified styles such as the popover dress and the diaper swim suit, reduces campus clothes to a minimum this season with her vivid fireman red polka-dotted jersey shirts and shorts, shown with a wraparound skirt or slacks of bold Scotch plaid to be slipped on in a hurry for classroom wear.

The theory, explains the designer, is that girls will wear the shirts and shorts only for lounging around their rooms and will keep the skirts and slacks handy for occasions which demand more conventional attire.

Miss McCardell shows a series of wraparound jumper dresses, which also may be worn with the jersey underpinnings, or with casual blouses featuring roll-up sleeves, like a man's shirt-sleeves.

The college girl's beloved blue jeans go elegant in the McCardell collection, in almond green flannel slacks and matching shirt, with rolled-up pants and sleeves.

For dates, Miss McCardell recommends a plaid taffeta dress with drawstring neckline, with the same rolled-up sleeves as predominate throughout the collection.

Pastor Gets 3 Years In C. O. Camp Evasion

LOS ANGELES, July 14 (AP)—Rev. Glenn Smiley, a Methodist minister, has been sentenced to three years in Federal Prison on his plea of guilty to charges of refusal to report to a Conscientious Objectors' camp.

The government charged that Smiley, area secretary of the Fellowship of Reconciliation, refused draft exemption as a minister, asked for classification 3S as a conscientious objector and then refused to go to camp. Several other ministers testified for him.

Refusing a plea of probation, U. S. District Judge Peirson M. Hall said:

"I think the 2000 boys killed on Saipan were closer to God than those in this room. They died so that universal love may really live."

Peace Guarantee In Travel—Brewster

ORONO, Me., July 14 (AP)—Urging Americans to travel after the war as "we have never done before," U. S. Sen. Brewster (R.) of Maine said: World travel is the preliminary to world trade, and world trade is the surest guarantee that war will not come again.

"Five billion dollars' worth of world travel by Americans is the best way to balance our international budget and preserve American standards of living here in the United States," he declared.

Paddy Coleman Assets Sought

Atty. Frank Wilson of Boston began a check today on the assets of the late Patrick A. "Paddy" Coleman, South End sportsman and philanthropist, following his appointment as administrator by Judge Frederick J. Dillon of Suffolk Probate Court. Value of the estate has not been determined.

Start 2-Day Trek To Plane Wreck

BANGOR, Me., July 14 — An Army searching party today left trucks and plunged into the wilderness above Rangeley Lakes where a Flying Fortress has been spotted torn to bits in a ravine.

Authorities at Dow Field said that reports from airmen who finally found the wrecked bomber indicated there was no hope that any of the crew of 10 men survived. There was no sign of life.

The Army tentatively listed the 10 members of the crew, none from New England.

Car Production Plans Studied

WASHINGTON, July 14 (AP)—Top-ranking automobile makers set out today to make plans for partial resumption of passenger car production after the German collapse.

The War Production Board was ready for the group—nine prewar manufacturers making up its automobile industry advisory committee—with its "blue order" reconversion plan.

Intended to be set in operation some time after "X-Day," the unknown date of the Nazi defeat, the "blue order" would speed reconversion by having orders for parts and materials placed in advance.

Meanwhile, the Senate small business committee proposed a program for giving smaller manufacturing plants a head start in reconversion from war to sicilian production.

The WPB "blue orders" would not be filled until the curtailmnet of war production enabled it to give the go-ahead signal.

Production of 2,000,000 cars a year has been suggested.

Rome Now Has Own 'WPA' Program

ROME, July 14 (AP)—Lt. Col. Charles Poletti, AMG Commissioner for Rome, announced today a 25,000,000 lire (about $250,000) Italian public works program would be started in the Rome region immediately to alleviate unemployment.

Projects will include removal of debris from bombed areas, public parks work and other jobs not requiring construction materials.

Guadalcanal Has Its Honored Bunker Hill

There's a Bunker Hill on Guadalcanal now, consecrated with the blood of American soldiers, men of the 182d Infantry, and formally dedicated to them by their comrades at a regimental ceremony.

History repeated itself on Guadalcanal, except that this time the hill was forever held against enemy onslaughts. It was held, moreover, by the regiment which in 1775 was manned by Colonial riflemen at Bunker Hill.

First word of the new Bunker Hill was received here from Maj. Francis W. OBrien of Cordis st., Charlestown, in a letter to Col. Bernard B. Twombly, Hillside rd., Medford, invalided home from Guadalcanal.

VITAL BATTLE

It seemed to Maj. OBrien, he wrote, that Hill 260 on Guadal-

Maj. Frank O'Brien

Lt. Col. B. B. Twombley

canal had become a part of American history which had much in common with the Battle of Bunker Hill. His commanding officer agreed with him.

While Boston was celebrating June 17, the 182d Infantry was drawn upon Guadalcanal for a companion celebration. Maj. O'Brien had drafted the ceremonial text. The men were told:

"This is not just a hill, nor was the battle just a battle. This engagement represented a large scale and determined attack by the Japanese forces in an effort to gain control of commanding ground.

"Possession of this hill would have enabled the enemy to overlook our positions, our airfields—and to open up an avenue of approach from which the enemy hoped to drive us from this island.

"Along this very road, which was then but a trail, our reserve passed to reinforce the garrison of 260 and stop the Jap assault.

FEARFUL COST

"Just 169 years ago today, on June 17, 1775, a band of Colonial riflemen representing this very regiment were entrenched on a hill at Boston. That day they met the furious and repeated charges of some of the finest troops under the British crown.

"The regiment fought well and bravely that day and the field was piled high with English dead. However, the painfully small force was finally overcome by sheer weight of numbers. The British at fearful cost won the hill.

"And so we dedicate this road which leads to the top of Hill 260 as Bunker Hill Road in respectful memory to the men of this regiment who died, not for two hills alone, but for America."

Maj. O'Brien, who is 30, was graduated from the Massachusetts Military Academy, Cambridge, in 1940, after going through Charlestown public schools. He had been a member of the National Guard since 1938.

He married Miss Eleanor Lambert of Charlestown in September, 1940. They have a son of 17 months whom the major has yet to see.

He was awarded the Legion of Merit for service on Guadalcanal and is now at Bougainville, serving as supply officer.

Kitchenware On WPB 1st List

WASHINGTON (AP) — Government sources disclosed the full list of 124 scarce consumer articles tentatively given "preferential treatment" under WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson's program for limited civilian production starting Aug. 15.

The list was drawn some days ago, however, and officials emphasized that it might be changed.

Kitchenware, knives and forks, heating pads, lunch boxes, spray guns and vacuum bottles are examples.

However, some more complicated items are included—bicycles, typewriters, moving picture projection equipment, shot guns, vacuum cleaners and sewing machines, for example.

Taxpayers' Burden To Remain, Says Long

Massachusetts taxpayers will face the same old grind for many years after the war if predictions of State Tax Commr. Henry F. Long come true.

Long told the National Association of Assessing Officers at Hotel Statler there will be little reduction in cost of government and no new fields of revenue. He urged cities and towns to build up fund reservations now.

Held in Handbag Theft

A Roxbury Negro, 37, and State Prison parolee, faced a lineup today following a handbag theft from Mrs. Helen Cable, 46, of West Canton st., South End a short distance from her home. Special Officer Peter Donnelley found the suspect and the bag in an alley but could not locate $44 the victim said she had in a pay envelope.

Laborers Threaten to Join Walkout at R. I. Navy Base

DAVISVILLE, R. I., July 14—Common laborers today threatened to join a walkout of more than 1000 skilled craftsman at the advance Navy base depot here in the aftermath of a War Labor Board ruling reducing wage rates for civilian workers.

The order, affirming a decision by the regional board at Boston cut the hourly wage rate of carpenters, painters and other craftsmen who had been retained as part of a maintenance force engaged in less skilled work at the base, from $1.25 and $1.25 to 93 cents.

Some of the men, the board reported, were engaged in crating, stenciling and marking crates free-hand. Previously Navy Department spokesmen had expressed the opinion the walkout had been in anticipation of a WLB ruling expected to reduce pay for less skilled jobs" but added that it would affect only 200 or 300 of the 3000 workers at the base.

Seabees in training here have been substituted in some cases to keep supplies moving overseas. They replaced carpenters, painters, plumbers, steamfitters, engineers, electricians and ironworkers.

Jerome Kearney, business representative of the carpenters union, and William O'Brien, official of the steamfitters union and Building Trades Council in Providence both declared the walkout "unofficial."

Still Drilling

MADISON, Ind., July 14 (AP)—Drilling for water on his farm near here, Willard Cashman struck a pocket of gas at 160 feet which, he figures, will heat his home, refrigerate his food and cook his meals for years.

But today he started drilling elsewhere for water.

Parents Farm Out 3 Of Boy Quints

ISTANBUL, Turkey, July 14 (AP)—The newspaper Cumhuriyet said the father of quintuplet sons born recently in Southeastern Anatolia had "farmed out" three of the children to other nomadic families and tried to pretend his wife had only borne twins, because his enemies laughed.

Among a primitive people, any departure from the norm is looked upon with disfavor. Thus the birth of quintuplets was not a welcome event to the father, Rifat Aga. The newspaper said:

"In order to put an end to the tongues wagging, Rifat announced that his wife had only borne him twins and that three of the children were born previously. Respectful villagers accept Rifat Aga's explanation."

Robots Can't Win War--Morrison

LONDON, July 14 (AP)—Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, said in an interview today the German flying bombs "cannot affect the outcome of the war in any way except give us one reminder that this Nazi regime is a foul and beastly thing to be wiped off the face of the earth."

He said defensive measures were "having an important measure of success and making an appreciable difference in the weight of the attack." Everything the government could do was being done, he added.

"The Mother Racket"

A NATIONALLY circulated woman's magazine recently exposed a wartime evil which it challengingly labelled "The Mother Racket."

According to the magazine, various organizations and individuals in five of the nation's larger cities have been taking unfair advantage of mothers' natural love and concern for their fighting sons and have been spreading disunity, distrust and defeat through the mothers' gullibility.

This alarmed and angered us, and we resolved to learn whether a similar situation afflicted New England.

Accordingly, we consulted the heads of women's clubs, the American Legion Auxiliary and many other outstanding groups.

All of them assured us—we are now pleased to report—that the women and mothers of our six States are too wise, too patriotic and too faithful to their responsibilities to be so easily victimized.

It is the established practice of New England women to inquire into the purposes of organizations and to look up the reputations and records of their leaders before they commit themselves to membership.

Our New England ladies are sane and sensible, and women everywhere should emulate them.

Communists and Fascists and their fellow travelers have frequently sought the refuge of the flag and Bill of Rights as they preached their insidious doctrines and plotted the destruction of the country.

It would be illogical to suppose they would overlook the chance to make political capital out of the name "mother."

Only the eternal vigilance of the mothers themselves can stop them.

"Fish, Fish, Fish!"

FOR MORE than three centuries the lovely little town of Plymouth has been famous as the place where the Pilgrims came in.

Now Plymouth has a brand new laurel to boast about. Henceforth, it can claim distinction as the place where the truant husband went out.

Plymouth started on its way to added glory a few days ago when a resident exchanged a harsh word or two with his wife.

Then, as peace-loving gentlemen have been wont from the days of Adam, he betook himself to the solitude of the harbor and proceeded to lure fleet mackerel with reel and rod.

But here was one angler who had reckoned without his irate spouse.

In no time at all she put in a hasty appearance, gave forth with a lusty shove that sent Mr. Man hurtling out into the briny deep, and voiced the thoughts of wives from time immemorial, as follows:

"Fish, fish, fish! That's all you want to do. You haven't even put up the screens yet, but you can fish, fish fish!"

Perhaps Plymouth has room for another monument to share honors with its cherished rock. Already we can see the subscriptions pouring in from a million or more women whose matrimonial bliss has been marred by "fish, fish, fish!"

Hasten the Recounts

GOVERNOR SALTONSTALL should set a deadline for the completion of all recounts sought as the result of close contests in the recent primary election.

The nomination balloting was conducted early this year to assure Massachusetts service men and women an opportunity to vote in the November election.

Any technicality or controversy that would delay the printing and distribution of ballots to the fighting forces all over the world would therefore be intolerable.

Washington Scene . . By George Dixon

WASHINGTON, July 14—When I was a kid my father used to try to lull me to sleep by bellowing a number called "Scots Wha Hae Wi' Wallace Bled." His efforts always failed of their purpose, but they made the neighbors wish Wallace would stop bleeding.

I am thinking seriously of reviving the song, if I can get permission from Mr. Robert Burns, the copyright owner. I do not foresee any great difficulty because I have never known a songwriter to scorn a plug from anybody.

The reason the song should be on every tongue today is that it is high time Mr. Roosevelt and the Democrats either staunch the wounds of Mr. Wallace or bump him off entirely so that he does not wither of slow anemia.

I just cannot stand seeing Mr. Wallace tortured. And it must be equally tough on him. Of course, you may argue that he should be used to anything, after four years in the Vice Presidency, but that is only being specious.

I keep hearing that, no matter what may come out of Washington in the next few days, they are going to ditch Mr. Wallace at the Democratic convention. My informants, none of whom have the vaguest notion of what they are talking about, say the Vice Presidential nomination is secretly in the bag for Sen. Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky.

I called up Sen. Barkley's office to ask about this, but was informed he is not in these parts. His secretary, Miss Flo E. Bratten, said there was a movement in Kentucky to put her employer across, but that she did not think it had crossed any State boundaries.

"Thus far," she said, "it is only a sort of favorite son movement."

I told Miss Bratten I was glad to learn that Sen. Barkley is Kentucky's favorite son, because so few people seem to be favorites at home any more. Miss Bratten offered to call me the minute Sen. Barkley gets nominated for Vice President, but I told her not to bother as it would probably leak out from other sources.

ACTUALLY, I have no idea what is to become of Mr. Wallace, but I hope they make it as painless as possible because he is a trusting, gentle type. He overflows with loving kindness and forgiveness. He doesn't even irk when introduced by the wrong name.

On his return from the Far East he made a radio talk in Seattle, Wash. For a couple of hours before the broadcast, the station management rehearsed the announcer so there would be no possible slip-up. "Mr. Wallace's name is Henry A. Wallace, the "A" standing for Agard. But the announcer introduced him as "Henry H. (as in horsefly) Wallace."

The management was mortified, but the Vice President told them he was not aggrieved.

"Bring the announcer over," he said, "and I will assure him personally it is all right."

"We can't do that," said the station manager. "We've just sent him out to shoot himself!"

MR. WALLACE'S chief assistant and closest confidant is a sapient gentleman named Harold Young. Mr. Young is a Texan—which may seem surprising, as there are said to be Texans who are not devoted to Wallace.

He takes credit, in a small way, for having helped doom the political career of Wendell Willkie.

Mr. Young was going up in an elevator some time ago and the elevator operator mentioned that he liked Willkie.

"You do!" exclaimed Young. "I am astounded at you! Don't you know that it was a member of his family who shot Lincoln—John Booth Willkie?"

The elevator operator—Young swears to it—replied he had not known this before and added:

"But you can bet I won't ever vote for him now!"

I WOULD NEVER voluntarily print this, because I am so confounded modest, but somebody shoved it in while I wasn't looking. It is a letter, reading as follows:

"That was a terribly funny piece you had about Mrs. Luce, Mrs. Tillett and Miss Gahagan.

"I got so many laughs I thought I must write and tell you so.

Bernard M. Baruch."

I pray for him. All else I do
Fades far away
Before the thrill that smites me through
The while I pray.
Ah, God, be good to him, my own
Who, on my breast
Sleeps with soft dimpled hands outthrown,
A child at rest!
—MARY AINGE DE VERE.

HAVE you ever been inspired to ask yourself this question: How many women are there in the United States? The answer is 44,430,643. Of these, about 17,325,450 are the mothers of children of 18 years or under. And of these mothers about 11,000,000 are between the ages of 19 and 24. That's a lot of young mothers, isn't it? No wonder this department receives so many requests to print poems about young mothers on Mother's Day.

BRIEFLY: Note the battle for Saipan, described as "among the hardest in United States history." This inspires the question: What was the hardest battle in our history? Was it Custer's Last Stand or the Fall of the Alamo? . . . A cancer, earning a salary of $100 a week, asked for alimony from her husband she was divorcing. There were no children. The judge refused to allow alimony, stating the wife was quite evidently able to take care of herself. This decision should be of interest to many married career women.

THAT DOG AGAIN: We have had some very large living rooms in our houses, but so far none large enough for the pup to find any other place to take a nap but at my feet, with his head resting on my shoes. This is indeed a touching expression of affection. However, it puts me on a spot. If I move my feet even a little the pup grunts in complaint and raising his head gives me a dirty look for disturbing his sleep.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q. Name six organizations or places, the names of which are other names spelled backwards, or forward and backward for my husband and a chocolate bar for my son. A. You have me baffled, lady. I can only think of three. The Semloh Hotel, Salt Lake City, name of which hostelry is Holmes spelled backwards. Sal Sagev Hotel, Las Vegas, Nev., name of the town reversed, and the Ak-Sar-Ben race track, Omaha, which is Nebraska turned around. Q. What do you think of a man who claims he can tell by a person's accent what city in the United States he is from? A. I don't believe it can be done. You can tell what section a person is from, but naming the city is something else. The only three cities the natives of which have easily distinguished accents are Boston, Brooklyn and New York.

ASIDES: First a boy, then a girl. That's how the eleven blessed events of a San Francisco couple alternated . . . As to food, an expert on the subject claims that skill in buying rates 40 per cent in importance and in cooking 60 per cent. I disagree. I believe buying is 30 per cent in importance, cooking is 50 per cent and skill in serving is 20 per cent.

TIME: Have you ever considered the difference between "sun time" and "clock time?" Better do so if you are in any business in which there is a legal closing time. In Texas, a cafe man worked a boy after 10 p. m., which is illegal in the Lone Star State. When the case came to court, the defendant's attorney stated that while the boy did work after 10 p. m. "clock time" the only true time was "sun time." Therefore, it was not really 10 p. m. that night until 11:20 p. m. "clock time" and the boy had gone home before that. The court agreed with the defendant's attorney, saying that "sun time is the only basis of legal recognition." But don't ask me how to know what time it is by "sun time." Have your lawyer make a study of the matter.

PLEASE NOTE: It is reported in that beautiful postwar world, when some houses are sold, electric washing machines, refrigerators, ranges, etc., will be part of the standard equipment and included in the price of the house. Their cost will be taken care of in the regular monthly payment on the house. Sounds all right. But if the idea spread wouldn't it decrease the number of jobs for salesmen as well as for many other persons in sales and distributing organizations? Seems the big idea in the postwar business world should be to originate and preserve jobs, not to do away with them.

Hollywood . . . . By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, July 14—Our women are really going places and doing big things in the movies. Just today I learned that Kay Francis reports Sept. 1 at Monogram Studios as co-producer of "Divorce."

Kay Francis

Jeffrey Bernerd, who has done so much for this little company, was responsible in bringing Kay there as star and co-producer.

Just as "Where Are My Children?" Are These Our Parents?" and "They Shall Have Faith" had a message, so has "Divorce." Maybe you remember the Percy Crosby cartoon, "Break Up," showing the unhappy child torn between his father and mother? Well, that's the inspiration of Kay's first at Monogram, and a story that will show the unhappiness divorce brings to innocent children.

INGRID BERGMAN is extremely interested in playing the woman's lead in "The Robe." "But," she said, "I haven't discussed it with Mr. Selznick yet. Mervyn Leroy told me he'd like me to play the girl, but I have to find out what other plans there are for me." I paid Ingrid a visit on the second day of shooting of "The House of Edwardes."

THAT LANKY COWBOY from Montana, known to a few trillion fans as Gary Cooper, has decided on his Western for William Goetz. After reading plays for three solid weeks he has chosen "American Cowboy," by Allan Lemay, as the first one in which he will both star and produce. Nunnally Johnson, who wrote and produced "Casanova Q. Brown," is writing the screen play for "American Cowboy."

IT'S BEEN DIFFICULT to understand why Jack Warner and Jesse Lasky are so upset by a line in the interview I did with Sir Aubrey Smith, in which Sir Aubrey said he was sorry his speech in "Mark Twain" had been cut. Both Jesse and Jack insist that not a line of the speech was lost, and, therefore, it was harmful to the picture. Personally, I still do not see how it is harmful, but if they feel that way, all I can do is give their version. Says Jesse: "The reason we are so eager to have it set right is because it raises an international question. We would not presume to cut a speech of such importance at this time."

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Helene Reynolds, who leaves for the East next week, will surprise Hollywood greatly if she and Ivan Goff do not marry; what, again? Kathryn Grayson and John Shelton have called off their divorce for the third, fourth or fifth time; I keep hearing that John Hodiak really cares for June Allyson; Karen Verne gets her freedom next week, and Peter Lorre the following week, which added up means a marriage later; Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean is entertaining after the gala preview of "Since You Went Away"; Maj. Monroe Greenthal, very natty in his uniform, is here on a few days' leave; Merle Oberon is expecting Sir Alex Korda Sept. 1. She goes East with the Darryl Zanucks; the stories Bob Harley tells of British courage in the face of robot bombings is something for the books. He is the head of 20th Century-Fox London offices.

Broadway . . . . By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, July 14 — Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce, who plots her careers as Broadway playwright and national lawmaker with equal skill, is unquestionably one of the five most interesting women in America—D. K.

CLARE BOOTHE LUCE SAYS:

For the first time in our history, American women of voting age outnumber the men. In the last Presidential election year, 1940, the men had a scanty majority of a little more than 355,000 votes. Today they have lost that and more, and it is the women who have an estimated majority. It now stands at about 580,000 votes.

With this tidy superiority at the polls, you might expect American women of the mid-20th century to be a mighty force in politics. Yet American women, who have about 51 per cent of the votes in the nation today, have less than 2 per cent of the votes in the House of Representatives, and only 1-96th of the votes in the Senate.

At all poutical levels and in all offices the influence and importance of women is immeasurably below what it should be for so vast a voting majority, and unhappily it gives no indication of that steany rate of progress which should have been expected over a period of 24 years.

WHEN WOMAN suffrage first became inevitable, both political parties regarded the surge of women into the polls and into politics with a mixture of hope and trepidation. Hope, because of the great record women had made in the past in support of progressive and enlightened legislation and movements. Fear, because of the way women were expected generally to "clean up" politics, and throw their weight about rather sentimentally and emotionally.

Those politicians who knew the history of the suffrage movement recalled that the women of New Jersey had been privileged to vote from 1776 to 1807, when this right was revoked because it had been exercised by the New Jersey women too often!

And then there was the record of women in the Abolitionist Movement. The first nationwide women's organization—the National Anti-Slavery Society—was formed in 1833 and promptly caused an uproar in Congress by submitting Abolitionist petitions to the embarrassed legislators. The disagreement these women provoked in Congress became — 27 years later—a national disagreement . the Civil War. The widespread Abolitionist activities of Northern women helped to keep the anti-slavery cause alive

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY—You are artistic, very personable. Sometimes strong passions; generally friendly, cheerful, although may tend to periods of gloom and too much introspection. Friendships can suffer because of variability. You actually become ill at argument or unpleasantness, yet can unwittingly get into quarrels. With your tendency to change, you are a defender of sane conservatism. Could be most successful with progressive associates. Religion is your true consolation, guide. Beauty

Try This Cake Make-up

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

IF YOU'VE BEEN to any of New York's smart supper clubs, you know the feeling of amazement you get as you gaze on the lovely complexion bases of the glamour models, actresses and debs. Obviously they keep pretty late hours, and some of them work hard for a living, yet they somehow manage to look gardenia-fresh even at 3 a. m.

Of course it's not just accident. They don't all really have skin any better than your own . . . but they know all the answers about grooming and particularly about make-up.

So it isn't surprising that the models . . . who have to be glamorous by day as well as by night . . . fell with joyful shouts on a new cake make-up which promises you "instant beauty" and comes in six lovely shades.

Cake make-up does give a lovely finish, but so many of the ones we have tried are eventually very drying. This one gives a soft dewy look, and stays with you with no retouching until the wee hours.

RESTED, HEALTHY LOOK

It covers minor imperfections without giving a mask-like effect; what it does is give you a rested, healthy look and the illusion of a naturally flawless skin.

You can be fragile and ladylike with one of the paler shades, or look sun-kissed in a grand shade called whirlwind, for the beach or mountains.

Before you go off on that two-weeks-with-pay, better try this miracle cake. After all, you never know what might happen on a vacation . . . and your face is your fortune to some degree at least.

Call the Beauty department, LIBerty 4000, for more information about this overtone cake; or write me, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope.

LOVELY Marguerite Chapman is one of Columbia Pictures' most glamorous gals . . . and this photograph particularly shows her flawless, petal-like complexion. If you would have yours bear close inspection, try the new overtone make-up that gives you a dream complexion and does not dry the skin.

Fashion

PLAY CLOTHES today are just as carefully cut and as smartly designed as our dance and dinner frocks . . . for example, take this candy striped play suit, with square neck outlined with daisies, its dirndl skirt ready to slip on or off in a jiffy. With it the pretty vacationer wears a Dache net strewn with cut-out felt flowers and wooden tapers.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

HYDE PARK, Thursday—When we arrived at the Poughkeepsie station yesterday evening, we waited and looked around hopefully, not knowing whether the artists the War Entertainment Board had promised to send up were really on the train. In a few minutes they appeared and we were off.

While I was indoors, one of our youngest summer guests made friends with Mr. Williston, the magician of the evening, who did a trick for him, making his thumb disappear. The child was so excited that his mother had to put him under the shower to calm him down before he went to bed. Later, my small grandson was fascinated by the sleight of hand tricks which he could not understand either.

We then proceeded over to the big house, and the artists had time for only a very short rehearsal before and after dinner. By 8:45 we started for the servicemen's canteen.

THIS CANTEEN is really an achievement, since a committee of enlisted men themselves run it with the aid of about 80 women from the village of Hyde Park who serve on different committees. They had transformed the old boathouse on the Vanderbilt place, and it looked very attractive. They found a few chairs and tables to put around outside, and a little paint and hunting did the rest. Of course we had to have a bad thunder storm.

However, there were strong and willing hands to bring the piano in, and the orchestra moved indoors very rapidly. The dancing began, and then the show went on. The soldiers and the girls brought by the Red Cross motor corps from Poughkeepsie, as well as the committee of the evening from Hyde Park, and the wives of the men, sat on the floor and enjoyed the show. The refreshments served by the Hyde Park women were very good and much appreciated by all.

Uses for Leftover Bread

ONE OF THE THINGS that homemakers should watch out for during the hot summer months is mold in the kitchen breadbox. Mold thrives in a dark, warm, close place where it has food to grow on. The breadbox, therefore, provides ideal conditions for its growth and much food can be spoiled and wasted.

To prevent mold, keep the breadbox in a cool, dry place, and wash it at least once a week with hot soap suds, rinse with boiling water, and dry thoroughly in the sun or oven, if possible. The box should have openings at either end, such as small nail holes, for ventilation.

USING LEFTOVERS

Neglected scraps of bread left too long in the box attract mold. Collect these every few days and dry them in the oven for crumbs or use for puddings and other desserts, for scalloped dishes, egg, vegetable or meat combinations, stuffings, etc.

Cool all freshly baked bread before putting it in the bread box. Wrap bread that is to be kept longer than a day or two in waxed paper and store in the refrigerator. Ready sliced bread is especially subject to mold. Dispose at once of any bread that molds and wash, scald and sun the box to prevent the spread of mold to fresh bread.

CARAMEL PUDDING

2-3 cup firmly packed brown sugar
2 tbsp. butter, melted
4 cups milk
3 eggs
1½ tsp. salt
¼ slices leftover bread
½ cup peanut butter
1 tsp. vanilla

Add sugar to butter and cook over low heat 3 minutes, stirring constantly. Scald milk; add sugar and butter, stirring until sugar is dissolved; then add slowly to eggs and salt, mixing well. Spread both sides of bread with peanut butter; place in greased baking dish and add custard mixture and vanilla. Place in pan of hot water, bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) for 45 to 50 minutes, or until firm. Serve warm or cold, with or without cream. Makes 6 servings.

BREAD TORTONI

½ cup dry bread crumbs
½ cup almonds, blanched and chopped
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. salt
½ cup milk
1 cup cream
2 tbsp. powdered sugar
½ tsp. almond flavoring
½ tsp. vanilla

Combine bread crumbs with chopped almonds, and toast in a slow oven until light brown. Add sugar and salt. Reserve two tablespoons of this mixture. Pour milk over remainder. Whip cream, add powdered sugar and flavorings. Fold into crumb mixture. Fill paper cases and sprinkle with the remaining crumbs and nuts. Place in automatic refrigerator trays and freeze two hours.

CHEESE OMELET

1 cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup grated cheese
1 cup milk
4 egg yolks, beaten
4 egg whites, beaten stiff
2 tbsp. butter
Salt and pepper or margarine

Combine crumbs and milk, and beat until smooth. Add beaten egg yolks, cheese, and seasoning. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Melt butter in heavy frying pan, pour mixture into it and cook, covered, over low fire 25 to 30 minutes. Turn out on platter and serve garnished with parsley.

BAKED MEAT LOAVES

1 lb. ground round steak
1 cup soft bread crumbs
½ cup milk or water
1 onion, minced
1 tsp. salt
½ tsp. pepper

Combine ingredients in order given. Shape in small loaves and place on baking sheet or put into greased muffin pans and bake in hot oven, 425 deg. F., 20 to 25 minutes.

Evening Gowns in Plaids

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THERE is a swing away from the short evening gown and back to the one that is long. This is a trend in the styles that is going to get stronger as the fall comes closer, the fashion folk say. Girls who are planning their wardrobes for college are insisting on long dance dresses, and high in favor with them is the plaid taffeta dress.

Miss Dulin has sketched one of the prettiest of these dance dresses, which comes from Jay Thorpe and is made of rose pink and navy plaid taffeta. It has a hip-length waist, another good style point, and a gathered skirt that is made to seem very full by a ruffled hem with a scalloped beading.

Scalloped bands trim the neckline and the short surpliced sleeves.

He's Balky; Hard to Lead

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: My best friend has asked to help her with a problem concerning her brother. He has become infatuated with a girl six years older than he is. She's a nice girl but doesn't care anything about the boy. Everyone, including his own family, is making fun of him, but in the eventual breakup, he will take it hard.

This siren has a younger sister who is in love with the boy, and we come to you for advice. Can you tell us how to divert the young man's attention to the younger girl? Your advice always seems to be right. L. M.

Don't you know, my dear, it's very difficult to make people go the way you'd like to have them, in matters of the affections. Don't try to force the younger sister on the boy. She might be there when he comes, in a sweetly sympathetic role, but don't let her go after him with the frankness of a dog-catcher with a net.

Potatoes Still Require Care

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Vegetable Garden Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Record-American-Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

If you have planned your victory garden well, now is the time your grocery bills—especially those of the vegetable man—should begin to show a satisfying slump.

In spite of the dry hot weather, the smaller plantings of potatoes are showing up well. Some of the earlier varieties will soon be ready to dig. Do not take it for granted that the crop will come through without any more care. The crop is deceiving and may go down fast unless it gets the proper attention.

I have seen many potato plots that looked good in early July go to pieces before the end of the month, due to attacks of bugs, leaf-hoppers and early blight. Do not dig your potatoes too early if you want maximum yields. If you keep the plants green and healthy they will almost double their yield.

Up until now gardeners have had to concentrate on insects. Now we are coming to a stage when we must combat both insects and disease. There is only one way to control diseases and that is by using copper spray or dust. Bordeaux mixture is the best practical fungicide for vegetables. Success in disease control can be traced to a thorough spraying program. The foliage must be completely covered so that the spores will not have a chance to get established. As plants make new growth more spray must be put on. Do not let up on the insects, however.

FERTILIZE CHARD

Keep away from beans when foliage is wet. This rule applies especially to pole beans, which are susceptible to rust. Careless handling of beans now may mean serious reduction in yields.

Fertilize Swiss chard for continuous yield. This crop has been growing fast in recent weeks and unless a little extra plant food is added now it will cease to grow and retain good quality.

Corn should not be hilled too much. Yesterday's high wind did some damage to corn. In most cases it was due to excessive hilling. Hilling prevents the development of brace roots. Practice level cultivation.

Youth Broadcast Hails Milwaukee

In co-operation with William Randolph Hearst's Milwaukee Sentinel, the CBS radio program "Youth on Parade" will salute the Milwaukee Youth Movement in a broadcast originating at WEEI tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The Massachusetts Youth Committee, part of the Hearst Newspapers' Youth Program, was the third of the country-wide units to receive a tribute on the popular CBS program.

A radio presentation of a Certificate of Merit will be made during the program to Miss Dorothy C. Enderis, in charge of Milwaukee recreation centers for the past 32 years.

Scrap Paper Used Up in Day

Scrap paper from the Boston area is being rushed to the reprocessing vats within 24 hours of collection and converted into finished board for war factories two days later, it was disclosed by Norman Scott, regional chief of the WPB paper section.

So scarce is the supply now that total shutdown of many New England mills is threatened unless a bumper collection is collected in the coming Boston pick-up.

Meanwhile, special vacation collection in districts on both the North and South shores is in prospect.

Ingraham--Price

THE MARRIAGE of Miss Esther G. Price of Brookline and George Hunt Ingraham of Marblehead is announced by her mother, Mrs. George C. Whitney of Brookline. Rev. Ashley Day Leavitt officiated at the ceremony in the Harvard Congregational Church on Tuesday and a bridal supper followed at the Hotel Beaconsfield.

Instead of the traditional satin and old lace the bride wore powder blue marquisette with a coronet of sweetheart roses, larkspur and gardenias and carried a bouquet of the same flowers. She was given in marriage by her uncle, Frederick O. Gaskins of Milton.

The bride graduated from Mt. Holyoke. The groom, a retired architect, is an M. I. T. alumnus.

MRS. HUGH NAWN with her deb daughter Jane and Hugh Jr., novice ice skating champ, have gone to St. Paul where the latter will do some practice skating with a tutor. On the eve of their departure Jane had a dancing date at the Copley Plaza Oval Room for which she wore a modish natural silk shantung suit.

Sada Faine, Chestnut Hill subdeb, whose date was Halcott Grant of Weston, danced in a lace-trimmed white waffle pique dirndl. They were joined for the supper show by an attractive Philadelphia deb, Grace Bartol, squired by Jim Page of Weston.

Up from Falmouth for an Oval Room date with P. Gregg Doherty, Jr., of Newton was blonde and beauteous Camilla Pyle, Mrs. T. Mitchell Hastings, Jr., of West Newton, at a ringside table with her husband, was as pretty as a picture in a citron linen bolero suit, green facing on the sash matching the orchids pinned to her bolero.

Blonde sub-deb Kay Salt of Chestnut Hill, who wears a nurses' aide uniform several days a week, danced in a darling violet crepe with oval neckline.

ROUND AND ABOUT—Mrs. Lombard Williams of Dedham and three daughters are looking forward to a long vacation at the fashionable Belmont on the Cape beginning next week. Her daughters are Mrs. Frederick C. Dumaine, Jr., Weston, Mrs. Manlius Sargent, Washington, and Marian "Boots" Williams.

Lt. and Mrs. Edward Ball Simmons (Peggy Hardwick) are receiving their mail at Coronado, Cal., and the fortunes of war have moved the Philip Sherwood family of Dedham to Shreveport, La.

WACs Sought To Aid Wounded

With casualties mounting on every theater of war, an Army drive was on today to recruit 22,000 WACs for service in hospitals and laboratories in the care and rehabilitation of wounded servicemen.

Women who are high school graduates without other training or experience will be sent to Hot Springs, Ark., or Camp Atterbery, Ind., for special hospital training. College graduates with experience will be assigned immediately as psychiatric assistants in Army hospitals.

Among the specialists most needed are social workers, laboratory technicians, dental mechanics, dental hygienists, stenographers, pharmacists and teachers experienced with the blind or the deaf.

Wage Row Halts Garand Output

SPRINGFIELD, July 14—Production of the Garand rifle was almost at a standstill today following suspension of 22 key men in a dispute over wage reductions.

Col. George A. Woody, commandant at Springfield Armory, said new men were being trained at once to take over the suspended rod straightening jobs, but a spokesman for the suspended men announced that the stockpile of rods would not last over two days and said inexperienced men could not meet quotas.

Suspension of the men followed refusal to accept a wage cut from $16 to $10.50 for 200 rods. Col. Woody explained the cut was due to a change in material.

Mexican Officer Freed in Revolt

MEXICO CITY, July 14 (AP)—A full pardon was granted to Capt. Benito Castaneda Chavarria by President Avila Camacho, who earlier interceded to save the Army officer's life as he stood before a firing squad.

The President overruled a court martial which sentenced the captain, father of six, to death on a charge of attempting to incite other soldiers in a military barracks to revolt. The war department later had urged a 20-year, prison sentence.

Though given his liberty, Castaneda was to be stripped of his rank and drummed out of the military reservation.

Fredric March Excellent In Met's 'Mark Twain' Hit

By JOYCE DANA

Among our own immortals is Mark Twain, or Samuel Langhorne Clemens, who came from Missouri.

Perhaps not even De Soto made the Mississippi more famous than Mark Twain with his tall tales and "funny" stories of Huckleberry Finn and Tom Sawyer. And with his kindliness and grand sense of humor and intuitive wisdom, he came to represent a lost but never-to-be-forgotten era in American history.

Now his story comes to the Met screen in "The Adventures of Mark Twain," with a few unimportant deviations from the records. It has a distinguished cast, excessive length, top-drawer production and a fine flavor of the old plush-covered family album.

Fredric March does a heroic job as the beloved Twain. It is such an outstanding performance that it holds your interest all the way through its more than two hours' unreeling. Jesse Lasky and Warners have obviously treated it with reverence, and while it is necessarily episodic, it has a breadth and a quota of Twain gems that his devotees (and others) will cherish.

In a cast that lists more than 300 speaking parts, Alexis Smith adds to her stature as an actress as Mark's adored Livvy. Donald Crisp as his unrelenting but understanding mentor, Percy Kilbride as a philosophical printer, Alan Hale, C. Aubrey Smith, John Carradine and Douglas Woods are all perfectly cast.

The good script takes Twain through his career as a river boatman, a cub reporter, a gold-rusher (and a disastrous affair that was!), his famous "jumping frogs" side-line, his globe-girdling lecture jaunt, his fiasco with General Grant's memoirs, and dozens of other things we oldsters have known and the youngsters should.

A good deal of judicious pruning, especially in the final reels and "Mark Twain" would be a finer and better film.

As it is, it's educational and entertaining, it's backed by an impressive score by Max Steiner and ought to be on the must list for discriminating movie-goers who have the patience to take an over-long picture.

BUY WAR BONDS AT LOEW'S

Lyman-Sheldon Team Scores at K-Boston

By DON WARD

Gene Sheldon with the marvelous collapsible banjo, and with charming Loretta Fischer to play straight for him, is probably one of the funniest fellows in the world. He stopped the show cold at the K-Boston opener and could have gone on apparently for days and days.

It's Gene who sews his fingers together, and cuts such capers as you'll never, never see again. And it's Abe Lyman's top band that sets the stage and supplies the melodies for another knockout four-a-day.

Abe's "California, Here I Come," to open the show had the crowd cheering, and so did his first vocalist, Frankie Connors, a lad with a nice tenor for "I'll Be Seeing You" and such things.

Another favorite on the bill is the extraordinarily talented Jack Marlowe, who plays fiddle for the New York Philharmonic during the winter season. What he can do with "Dark Eyes" is something to hear and remember.

Rose Blane is the pretty vocalist who has the audience participating in "Amen," and does O. K. with "G. I. Jive" and other hit tunes.

The comedy juggler on the bill is Bob Dupont, who doesn't say a word, but lets his Indian clubs and bouncing balls dig in for plenty of laughs.

Pep Thrills Fans In Gym Workout

By JACK CONWAY

WILLIE PEP looked every inch a champion as he went through a stirring workout at Harry Kelley's Gym for his 10-round bout with Manuel Ortiz which will be staged by the Callahan A. C. at National League Park on Monday night.

There was a large crowd on hand to see Pep punch the small bag, take a few belts at the big bag, skip rope, do floor exercises and box with Jean Barriere. Ring experts like Al Lacy, Bobby Goldman, Al Delmont, Harry Kelley, Col. Dave Egan and Matty Norton were unanimous in pronouncing Pep at the top of his fistic form for his tussle with Ortiz.

Col. Dave Egan

"Any fighter who can win 74 out of 75 starts has to have plenty of class," remarked Goldman.

"That is the kind of a horse I would like to have running for me," remarked Harry Kelley, who at times takes a fling at being his own private handicapper. "Horses, however, are not so consistent."

Included in the gathering around the ring were many soldiers and sailors. Like everyone else, they were eager to see the featherweight champion toss leather.

Billy Gore is in town with Pep. Billy has been in Pep's corner during the latter's remarkable ring career.

"I think Willie Joyce gave me my hardest fight in Chicago the other night," said Pep in reply to a question by this writer. "Apart from having seven pounds the best of it in weight, Joyce has one of the finest left hands I ever opposed. He would throw three left hand punches in a row. They had plenty of power behind them."

Col. Egan remarked that the AP gave Pep seven out of the 10 rounds.

"It didn't seem as if I had such a lead," remarked Pep. "I had to keep fighting until the final gong to win."

Paid $1 a Round

PEP DECLARED he knows Ortiz' style.

"When I was on the Coast three years ago," said Willie, "I was glad to get $1 a round to act as sparring partner for Ortiz. The latter was then a feature bout performer, while I was trying to get recognition. As a result of these workouts, I know the style of the Mexican."

Pep was told he was a favorite to win.

"That's bad," he said laughingly. "They once made me a 4-to-1 choice to win from Sammy Angott and that is the only bout I have lost."

Pep declared that he holds the gate receipts records for an indoor featherweight show in New York.

"The gate was $72,000 in the New York Garden the night I won from Chalky Wright," declared Pep. "I also did pretty well with Sal Bartolo in Boston. We drew $48,000 in the ball park for Eddie Mack."

Pep has never taken time to figure out his total ring earnings or the amount of money he has helped draw at the gate.

"I have had some small purses as well as big ones," he said, "but I have never figured out just how much I have made. The ring game has been good to me, I have saved a fair share of the money I have earned, and I feel I shall soon be financially independent."

Can Make Weight

PEP DOES not expect to experience any trouble making the featherweight limit of 126 pounds.

"When I came out of the Navy, I weighed 147 pounds," admitted Pep. "It looked as if I had outgrown the featherweight and lightweight classes. In the Navy, one is always eating and I often had as many as five meals a day. One also consumes food that puts on weight.

"Once out of service, I was careful of my diet and was at 127½ pounds for Joyce in Chicago. I will be around that notch for Ortiz on Monday night."

Pep is confident he will win, and plans to set a terrific pace from the opening gong.

"I am going to convince Ortiz I have improved a lot as a fighter since the days when he used to pay me $1 a round."

Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell, who boxes Earl Lowman in the eight-round semi-final, went through three hard rounds of boxing with Yancy Henry in addition to his other training. Yancy Henry is a former All-America heavyweight champion, and in recent years he has done some fine boxing in California.

Yancy told me he weighs 218 pounds and that he is ready to battle any of the local heavyweights. Working against Mulligan, Yancy proved he is fit.

With Pep and Ortiz in town, interest in the Battle of Champions is running high.

Starr Sees America First

Ray Starr has pitched professionally for 17 different cities. This is the 19th season of league ball for the Pittsburgh Pirates' stalwart moundsman.

Get 'Em Now

Tickets for the Battle of Champions between Willie Pep and Manuel Ortiz at a Callahan A. C. show at National League Park on next Monday night may be secured at No. 44 School st., Boston, telephone Lafayette 6197 or Lafayette 6198. The prices of the tickets are $1.30, $2, $3.60, $5 and $6.

In view of the fact the Disabled Veterans Fund of the Record-American - Sunday Advertiser is receiving 10 per cent of the gross receipts, there will not be any complimentary tickets to the show.

Hughson Fires at Yanks

By JOE CASHMAN

NEW YORK, July 14—The Red Sox can win in the Yankee Stadium.

They proved that to themselves and some 17,000 fans in the nightcap of Thursday's double-header. And they were confident this morning that they'd demonstrate the ability again in the third game of the series this p. m.

For Tex Hughson was set to go after his 14th victory.

The Hose reason that if Yank Terry—yes, he was the author of the Thursday triumph—can prevail in the House That Ruth Built, then surely it should be a breeze for Hughson to provide an encore.

That's logical reasoning, too, even though Hank Borowy, the champs' best mound bet, was down to toil on the home hill.

Twice on the Yanks last visit to Boston Hughson and Borowy had it out on the mound and twice Tex walked off with the honors.

True, Borowy was the more successful pitcher against the National Leaguers in last Thursday's All-Star game. But Tex on that occasion was having a long overdue "bad day," according to his mates who were present.

"I was pulling my heart out for "Tex" to blind those National Leaguers," chirps Manager Joe Cronin, who was a coach in the game.

"But, from a Red Sox angle, the licking he took at Forbes Field may have been a break for us. He hadn't had a bad inning for weeks. He was bound to have one sooner or later. If he got it out of his system in Pittsburgh—much better it happen there than while out there for us in a regular season game."

The Skipper is tickled over Terry's success yesterday, but he's equally elated over the fine showing of Frank "Red" Barrett, who was handed his first starting assignment in the opening game and was beaten 4-2.

The red-head from Columbus showed he is effective in a full-time role as he is in relief parts.

Going seven innings before being lifted for a pinch-hitter, the Florida thin man yielded only seven hits. In five of the frames he faced only three batters.

The defeat in the first game yesterday knocked the Sox below the Yanks into third place . . . But they climbed back to second by taking the nightcap, 8 to 4.

Bobby Doerr, getting only one single in seven tries, lost his league leadership in batting . . .

Flood Town Well Backed

CHICAGO, July 14 (AP)—Lt. Edward Lasker's Flood Town, beaten in the Arlington Futurity preview Tuesday, still has plenty of backers who like the colt's chances in Saturday's $60,675 race.

The Eastern racer finished third behind John Marsch's Free For All and Errard, beaten by a length by Free For All and trailing the other Marsch horse by a scant nose.

Saturday's Futurity field may number as few as four horses, the smallest in the 15 years' history of the event. Originally, 163 entries were named for the race of six furlongs, but the Marsch-owned animals' performance apparently had prompted owners to withdraw their horses.

Besides these three William Helis' Spartan Noble, purchased by the New Orleans man for $18,100 as a yearling, and Don Arneche's Sir Bim, will go for the purse.

Talent and Beauty In N.E.A.A.U Meet

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Bathing beauty will be combined with swimming talent tomorrow afternoon when the New England A. A. A. U. conducts its first championship meet of the outdoor season at the Tufts Square Pool, Medford, to be held in conjunction with the Medford Youth Commission under the auspices of the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser.

Everybody from Mayor Walter E. Lawrence, honorary chairman, to City Engineer Harold Nicholson, in charge of the pool, has contributed to the conemplaed success of this affair and only favorable weather will be needed to have expectations fulfilled.

The American Red Cross, under the supervision of William Houston, will be contributing its instructive share to the program. There'll be demonstrations of life-saving, the correct way of abandoning a ship, transportation over-water of an injured person and other varied tricks of swimming as taught to servicemen at home and overseas.

Director Eddie Pidgeon's entry list for the competitive events proved a mild and pleasant surprise to all—both in its quantity and quality. All told, there'll be a dozen events—four limited to Medford boys and girls—equally divided between men and women.

CLAIRE LAMORE IS IN

Topping the women's field will be Claire Lamore, a one of nine members of the Olneyville Club from Providence, R. I., who will be attempting to take over the crown in the 100-yard backstrike event. Last winter, Miss Lamore captured every NEAAAU title up for auction to become the outstanding girl swimmer in New England.

Also entered from Providence will be Louise Sherlock, Anna Franklin and Barbara Milliken, in both the junior individual medley race; Harold Mirroff and Harold Anderson in the open 100-meter breast-stroke and Joe Baclawski and Joe Turone in the 100-meter freestyle event.

Instructor Helen Carroll's newly organized Winchester Swimming Club will be turning up with a full team. The Winchester entries will find Joy Pray in the 150-yard medley; and the 100-yard freestyle; Edith Dover in the medley and backstroke; Barbara Donaghey and Rose McGowan in the freestyle; Helen McGowen in the backstroke; Mike Gambino and James Quine in the senior 110-yard freestyle; Marge Carroll, Althea Grace, Barbara Young and Veronica Carpenter in the 50-yard freestyle and Bob McGrath, John Power and Tom McGowan in the men's division of the 50-yard freestyle.

A complete team from the Bunker Hill Boys Club; entries from the Newton YMCA, the South Boston Boys Club; the Metropolitan Swimming Club and unattached natators will provide tip-top competition.

KEEPING YOUR LIPS CLOSED ...OR SMACKING THEM?

Unless you open your lips and ASK for Carstairs White Seal whiskey these days, you can't expect to be smacking your lips over the Perfectly Balanced Blend. If you keep telling barmen you want this prewar quality whiskey, you'll hit a mighty high average. Because a fair supply is around, you know—and every drop is from prewar reserves only. So if you always say it "Carstairs," you'll frequently be saying: "Ah-h"!

Wakefield Retains Eye After Lay-Off

By Associated Press

Can Ted Williams, Joe DiMaggio, Bobby Feller, Johnny Vender Meer and scores of other big leaguers in service pick up where they left off when they come marching home from war?

The question that has puzzled club owners and fans alike was partially answered yesterday when Dick Wakefield, recently "detached" from the Navy's Iowa pre-flight school, stepped into a Detroit uniform and banged out two hits in the Tigers' 9-1 slaughter of Chicago.

Wakefield has not seen active service, and soon may be called away from the Tigers by the Army, but a parallel can be drawn between him and others who have been much more distantly removed from big league pitching.

LEAGUE LEADER

Judging from first day impressions, it may not be so tough for the stars to resume their careers.

The $52,000 dandy is out of the Navy because the need for fliers apparently has decreased. He has been away from the big show for only half a year after hitting .316 and leading the league in total hits and doubles as a rookie. Others making a more violent change may find the readjustment more difficult.

Wakefield's two hits helped the Tigers rout Orval Grove with an eight-run spurt in the second as Paul "Dizzy" Trout coasted to his 11th win.

St. Louis held its 2½-game margin in the American flag race by scoring three times in the 10th for a 4-1 victory in the second game after bowing to Cleveland, 6-5, in the opener of a two-night double-header. Chief Reynolds won and Al Smith lost for Cleveland, with Nels Potter getting the St. Louis victory and Eig Jakucki the defeat.

JURISICH GETS NOD

Boston and the New York Yankees divided two games as they opened a vital six-game series. The Yanks took the first, 4-2, as Ernie Bonham outpitched Rookie Red Barrett with the help of Bud Metheny's two-run homer. Yank Terry scattered six New York blows in the finale after the Sox hopped on Atley Donald for four unearned runs in an 8-4 triumph.

Al Jurisich of the Cards got the nod over Jim Konstanty of the Reds in a night 11-inning National League duel when Danny Litwhiler doubled home Walker Cooper for a 3-2 edge over Cincinnati.

Frank Colman's pinch triple enabled Pittsburg to top Chicago, 3-2, for its firth straight and win No. 6 for Fritz Ostermeuller. Hank Wyse was the loser.

The New York Giant-Philly night game was rained out, and Brooklyn-Boston in the National and Philadelphia-Washington in the American had open dates.

Roger Cramer May Pitch

DETROIT, July 14 (AP)—Roger Cramer, who was a pitcher when Cy Perkins discovered him along the New Jersey coast nearly 20 years ago, may return to the mound for the Detroit Tigers.

Pressed for pitching talent during the current six-game four-day series with Chicago, Manager Steve O'Neill thought of the 38-year-old Cramer, who lost his outfield job when Dick Wakefield returned.

"Cramer is fast and he has a good curve," said O'Neill. "I think he should make a good pitcher."

Phillies Show New Infielder Tonight

PHILADELPHIA, July 14 (INS)—The Philadelphia Phillies tackle the New York Giants tonight with a new shortstop—William (Heinie) Heitzel, from the Indianapolis club of the American Ass'n.

The five-foot nine-inch right-hander, who was purchased for an undisclosed sum to replace Ray Hamrick, inducted into the Navy today, is said to be a crackerjack fielder.

Owners Change Rules On Screen-Hit Balls

PITTSBURGH, July 14 (INS)—National League club owners today announced a compromise rule on fair balls driven through screens and into the stands.

The rule, agreed upon at a meeting in Pittsburgh, last Monday, calls for such hits in all National League parks to be limited to twob ases instead of a home run.

Bill Cox Faces Linehan Club

Bill Cox will be the mound choice for the Hick's Engineering nine tonight in an attempt to silence the big guns of Mgr. Bill Benson's Linehan Club at Draper playground in one of the two tilts on the docket on the Park Department schedule.

The Dick Casey Club will play host to the West Roxbury A. A. at Town Field, Dorchester in the second game.

The Engineers have taken a new lease on life for the past week and have begun to rise in the standings while the Linehans still have an eye set on the third place slot which at present is held by the Watertown Arsenal.
